ON PARENTS'
TEACHERS' MEETING

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

The department organized a parents-teachers meeting on 5th march 2019 to create a common platform where the parents along with the students and teachers could collectively come together to discuss various issues regarding the students' academic development. The parents had little to no knowledge about the recent change in course syllabus to CBCS grading system. The department teachers explained in depth all these changes and how the department works to cater to the changing needs of the students. The parents were also given ideas about higher education and further career opportunities for the students. The parents had a good interaction with the teachers and overall the feedback from the parents was quite beneficial and the department strives to work harder towards overcoming all the drawbacks and shortcomings.

ONLINE MEETING

The Department of Political Science organized an online Parents-Teachers meeting on the Google Platform on 15th August and 17th August 2021. The focus of this meeting was to interact with the parents regarding the ongoing online classes during the pandemic. Covid-19 was a difficult times for the students as well the teachers since the main mode of teaching face to face interaction which was tough due to the online classes. The parents complained about students loss of interests in studies and feared for their academic progress. They also complained about the infrequent number of classes. The teachers explained that due to weak internet connection it was not always possible to take classes and was working towards providing more study materials and taking more number of classes for the students.
